Restorative Nursing Program Certification Course

Congratulations on your decision to become certified in the Restorative Nursing Program! You have made a great decision. Your involvement in this course will assure that the residents in your facility receive care that enables them to function as independently as possible. You will also benefit by learning the most effective resident management techniques while protecting you from personal injury.

We know that you are dedicated to the residents in your facility. How do we know this? We know because you are coming to improve your skills. When you improve your skills, your residents benefit.

Great care begins with you!

"Great instructor that was very knowledgeable of topic!"

"Well organized and informative!"

"Course exceeded my expectations!"

"Great job!
Easy to understand."

OVERVIEW

Course Purpose

The purpose of this course is to improve the knowledge base and clinical competencies of the nursing assistants and licensed/registered nursing staff. To fine-tune and enhance the skills of any current RNAs. To help your RNA coordinator have a better handle of how to provide support to your RNAs and train the trainer. Increased performance improves resident care.

Program Content

The content of this 2-day course focuses on strengthening the role of the Restorative Nursing Assistant and the Restorative Nursing Program Coordinator in demonstrating clinical competencies with facility residents and understanding the keys to implementing a successful Restorative Nursing Program.

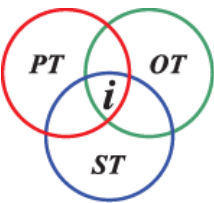

Program Format

The format of this course is interactive. Your participation is expected throughout the lectures and demonstrations.

Graduation

Graduation from this course requires demonstration of select clinical competencies as well as successful completion of a written posttest. Certification of course completion will be awarded when these standards are met.
